

Most Blacks Desire Changes; A Minority Resort To Violence

(Editor's Note: This is the third of a series of articles on the problems facing the black community in America.)

Why do so many Negroes seem dissatisfied with their present status?

In general, Blacks are much better off economically and financially than 10 years ago. Then why the unrest?

It would be difficult to give a precise and simple response, but Dr. Philip Kunz of the BYU sociology faculty offers a possible reason. He says that many Negroes are just becoming aware of their possibilities for progress—socially and economically. And many are impatient because they have been dealt with unfairly for so many years.

NON-VOLENCE

As a matter of interest, many prominent Negro leaders have publicly denounced violence and non-peaceful protests. The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People attacked militants in a recent editorial.

"Let it be known that the preachers of hate, the defeatists afraid to compete in the open market, . . . let it be known that these media-created 'leaders' are not our spokesmen.

"Disent, protest and militancy, yes. Intimidation, disruption, suppression of free speech, extremism and violence, no!"

BLACK POWER

When speaking of riots and demonstrations, many people automatically think of "black power." Black power conveys different meanings to everyone, but these meanings could be summarized into three classifications:

1. Black supremacy or a black takeover of the white establishment. This is the most violent and revolutionary form of black power, and is typified by groups such as the Black Panthers. Only about four per cent of American Negroes adhere to this philosophy.

2. Black separatism and black independence. This form is characterized by a total withdrawal from white society with Blacks being independent politically, economically, etc. Such groups as Black Muslims and the Black Non-violent Coordinating Committee subscribe to this interpretation. One poll estimated that about six per cent of the Negro population agree with this viewpoint.

3. Black equality. This means simply attaining equality with whites. This philosophy was subscribed to by Dr. Martin Luther King and his followers and traditional groups such as NAACP and the Urban League. About 80 per cent of the Negro population have this point of view.

"Actually black power is more than a mood or an attitude. It seems to mean to all Negroes of whatever persuasion a greater pride in the Negro race, or in other words, a black consciousness that Negroes have not traditionally possessed," according to Dr. Phil Thorpe, BYU faculty member and director of the Community Action Program of Utah County.

Thus we see that not all Negroes sympathize with violence and disruption.

MAJOR REASONS

The President's Commission on Civil Disorders singles out some of the major causes for the riots which shook 23 cities by 1967. These are: (1) Discrimination and segregation, prejudice and racism; (2) black migration to and white exodus from the cities; (3) black ghettos; (4) frustrated hopes; (5) legitimization of violence and law breaking; (6) lack of intellectual and political power; (7) incitement to violence through widespread media coverage of preachers of violence such as Rap Brown and Stokely Carmichael; and (8) police.

Each of these reasons could be examined in depth but let's review a few:

Life in the ghettos seem to foster ignorance, crime and a general feeling of restlessness. If the rest of the population of the United States were as compressed as is the population in Harlem, the whole U.S. population could fit into the city of New York, according to one estimate.

Most Negroes are in the lower income bracket and the civil rights effort has mainly aided the middle-class Negro, since much of the legislation in education, housing and employment has not greatly affected those Negroes in slums.

Police, according to the Riot Commission, are

are held in check by National Guardsmen and state police in Detroit riot.

seen almost universally as the black man's enemy and the white man's friend.

POSSIBLE SOLUTIONS

While most agree that riots and violent demonstrations must be stopped, a major disagreement arises over the roles government and business should play in solving these problems.

Some believe that while all social legislation has not been bad, more emphasis must be placed on the supreme power of individual effort. Others contend that it is preposterous to suppose that a Negro who is shackled by ignorance, poverty, and inopportunities can pull himself out of his dilemma through individual effort.

Some—such as Or. Todd Britsch of the Humanities Dept. of BYU—believe that government programs should be used to give disadvantaged persons an opportunity to achieve independence and that the "primary function of social legislation should be to eliminate the need for further legislation."

A recent report by "Newsweek" reveals that most businessmen feel federal and state government should shoulder the responsibility. Others, however, such as David Rockefeller, believe that business will pick up most of the tab and that it will become fashionable to do so. To achieve this, the government will undoubtedly have to provide such incentives as tax allowances, direct credits and rapid depreciation write-offs. If President-elect Nixon has his way, this will be the case.

On the other hand, many believe that the hundreds of Community Action programs throughout the nation, which are aimed at getting people off welfare, and which include activities such as Head Start and various vocational improvement programs, are aiding many of the disadvantaged to achieve independence and dignity.

Private business is already proving that it can help by providing on-the-job training, putting forth extra effort to place more Negroes in meaningful positions, constructing plants and factories in ghetto areas, rehabilitating old housing units and attempting to improve ghetto areas.

Whatever the answer, Americans should understand that "race prejudice has shaped our history decisively. It now threatens to affect our future, according to the Riot Commission. The Commission also states, "What white Americans have not fully understood, but what Negroes can never forget, is that white society is deeply implicated in the ghetto. White institutions created it, white institutions maintain it, and white society condones it."

Library Gets 12,000 Maps For Collection

maps department of the J. Clark Jr. Library just received a shipment of approximately 12,000 new maps for collection.

The maps, received from the Department of Interior, are the first shipments, expected to contain 12,000 new maps.

The new maps are mostly of the Department of the Interior, and are acquired free of charge by the Department of Interior through the help of Sen. Wallace Bennett (R-Utah) and the Department of Interior Stewart embassies in the United States have also been contacted. Many of these nations have responded very favorably, and it is expected that another 5,000 maps will be acquired through this means.

GOOD SOURCES

The Clark library is a depository for the Department of Interior, the U.S. Army map service and the Topographical Map Service of Canada. This means that whenever a new map is made of an area, the library receives the newest edition. In this way, the library is able to keep its collection modern and up-to-date.

The department has also made an attempt to collect old maps, especially of colonial America. "These old maps of the eastern portion of the United States, along with being very interesting, are also extremely helpful to people doing genealogy work," Mr. Dees explained.

A CAMPAIGN

Mr. Dees, librarian in charge of the maps department, stated that a campaign is being run to improve the maps in the library. The new maps will be added to the current collection of over 70,000 maps. The library expects to have more than 100,000 maps in its collection at the end of the school year. This will be one of the most complete map collections in the state.

UNICEF Cards Help Needy Kids

For the third time in as many years, volunteers have been granted permission to sell UNICEF greeting cards in post offices across the nation.

The sale of UNICEF cards will benefit needy children in over 120 countries assisted by the Nobel Prize-winning United Nations Children's Fund. This organization marks its 21st anniversary this year.

The cards will feature 20 different designs from 20 different painters. Included will be traditional card themes.

For every nickel UNICEF receives it will be able to buy enough penicillin to cure two children of yaws, a crippling tropical disease. For every dime they collect UNICEF will be able to buy enough antibiotics to save a young victim of trachoma from blindness.

With just half the profits from the sale of one box of cards ($1.50 per box) 50 children can be protected from tuberculosis.

In this area the cards will be on sale at the Provo downtown Post Office and they will also be on sale at the BYU Bookstore.

PROTECT GPA

Students not planning to return to BYU after the Holidays must discontinue officially in B-234 ASB before leaving or write a letter of discontinuance to that office. Failure to do so will result in "E" grades. This could jeopardize academic standing and mean academic suspension for those students currently on probation.

New Musical Replaces 'Story'

The next production of the Speech and Dramatic Arts Dept.
will be the musical comedy
"Walking Happy," which will replace the previously scheduled
"West Side Story," according to Dr. Lael J. Woodbury, department chairman.

"I have not been able to

with the New York offices," Dr.
Woodbury said, "and our production team agrees that we need more time developing a beginning something as complex

"I'm especially happy to get the

"Walking Happy," for it is based stage ("Hobson's Choice") and it, after a successful run, is just now

released to us."

Cat Cagers Bopped Twice

By Clyde Haack
Universe Sports writer

BYU encountered wind, rain and cool times in San Francisco Friday and Saturday, dropping two contests on the road to the University of San Francisco and a highly touted Houston crew.

After a see-saw battle during the first 30 minutes of play, the BYU Cougars knotted the score at 73-73 with 2:48 left to play and Puma hopefuls thought their favorites might pull off their first win on the road. But six consecutive foul pitches by the Dons put the game out of BYU's reach and inked the win into the San Francisco record books, despite a closing basket by Bruce Barron.

USF center, Pete Cross, was all over the court and led the Don attack with a phenomenal 29 points. Teammate, Curtis Hintons, followed with 23 easy nters.

Paul Ruffner led BYU scoring, as the big man tallied 20 points.

Lynn Parsons, Doug Howard, Kari Lino and Marty Lythgoe all scored in double figures for the Cats.

"In the Houston game, it was a big, strong and determined crew, coming off of a humiliating loss to Santa Clara that made the difference in the ball game," according to Stan Watts, BYU basketball coach.

Led by 6'9" center Ken Spain, who canned 23 points, Houston out-shot BYU to win going-away, 98-75. The Mountain Cats shot a poor 34 per cent from the field, while Houston shot a hot 53.5 per cent.

Ollie Taylor, added 19 points for the Houston Cougars, while Raul Ruffner and Doug Howard tied for r BYU scoring ho mors, with h 16 apices. Scott Warner gave a fine performance for the Cougars, hitting the nets for 11 points in 12 minutes, when Ruffner got into foul trouble.

Leroy Maughn did a promising job during the last three minutes of play, during the consolation match, scoring seven points and pulling down three rebounds.

Net Honors

Play in the First Annual BYU Indoor Tennis Tournament came to a close Saturday with players from the University of Utah and UCLA sharing top honors.

Singles competition was dominated by F.D. Robbins, spectacular freshman from Utah, with the doubles crown going to the UCLA team of Roy Barth and Steve Tidball. Robbins defeated nationally rated Barth 6-2, 6-4, for the championship with the Barth-Tidball combination stretching past the Cougar duo of Zdravko Minecek and Dave George, 6-4, 9-7.

Robbins, 1968 USLTA Junior Champion, completely dominated singles play impressively defeating Barth, who is rated in USLTA listings and 5th in Pacific Coast tennis ratings. Barth was constantly on the defensive with the 18-year-old Robbins staying in control with cannonball services and baseline smashes. Robbins will represent the United States in a World Cup competition in Florida later this month.

In doubles action, BYU's Minecek and George advanced to the finals with wins over the second seeded team of Tom Gorman and Dick Knight of Washington and Patrick Landau and Sima Nikolic of BYU.

But the Cougar tandem could not overcome the play of Barth and Tidball, who were among the top rated doubles team in collegiate ranks.

Tidball demonstrated what was probably the strongest service in the three day tournament overcoming BYU hopes despite a strong effort in the second set by the Cougar netters.

Hopes for the upcoming Western Athletic Conference net wars look good for the Cougars following the tourney with Minecek advancing to the semifinals in singles and looking impressive in the doubles teamed with George.

Kittens Trounce Dixie, Top Battle To Rangely

Kitten basketball splits the games, losing to the College of Colorado, but defeating Dixie College in an impressive second half.

Leading performers in the games were Gary Raduchic, scored 27 and 29 points in the two contests, and Phil Tolstrup, who finished with 15 and 11 points, respectively. He also pumped in 23 points against Dixie. Coach Ernest spoke highly of the performance of Dan Hansen, formerly of the BYU football team, who scored eight points in his first appearance as a BYU player.

According to Coach Earnest, both games were tight in the first half of play, with Rangely holding by one and the Kittens holding at the half in the second contest.

Coach Earnest said, "The boys looked like a team for the first time against Dixie, out-scoring the Southern Utah team 59-29 during the second half." He expressed hope they would maintain their sharpness for the remainder of the season.

The mystery of what happened to the Duke Blue Devils intrigued college basketball critics Sunday. The nationally ninth-ranked Blue Devils started off the current season with three straight victories then collapsed and lost three in a row.

With substitutes UCLA, North Carolina and Davidson, the 1-2-3 teams in The Associated Press poll, fourth-ranked Kentucky enjoyed a 102-78 romp against Penn in Philadelphia.

Flirt-ranked New Mexico came from nine points back to edge Texas at El Paso, 65-61 at Albuquerque and sixth-ranked Cincinnati capitalized on Jim Ard's 21 points and 10 blocked shots to score on the road over Miami of Ohio 56-48.

Noire Dame, No. 7, also won on the road, routing St. Louis 101-76. St. Bonaventure, No. 10 and the only other team in the top ten to see action, scored at home in Olean, N.Y. over Toledo 85-75 behind 40 points by Bob Lanier.

Broadcast Stirs Hope For POW Unchaining

PARIS (AP)—U.S. negotiator W. Averell Harriman said Sunday "we are waiting hopefully for confirmation" of a report North Vietnam will release some U.S. prisoners for Christmas, but stressed nothing official has come from Hanoi.

The report was carried in a Moscow broadcast in Vietnamese heard by U.S. monitors Saturday. The broadcast quoted Radio Hanoi as saying a number of the U.S. captives would be freed.

Some U.S. sources believed the circumstances pointed toward a mistake by the Soviet broadcast. American listening posts had heard no such item direct from Hanoi.

Any release of the prisoners would be welcomed by the U.S. government and by Harriman, who has given special attention to the issue before and during the months of talks with North Vietnamese negotiators in Paris.

More than 400 crewmen of U.S. planes downed over North Vietnam are believed to be held prisoner, though Hanoi has never supplied a list or allowed an agency such as the International Red Cross to visit them.

The North Vietnamese set three U.S. flyers free during 1968 Tet holiday and three more in July after Harriman said that release of captives would improve the negotiating climate.

As an avowed act of good will, Hanoi has also announced that Christmas cards and packages can be mailed to the airmen this Yuletide season.

But in general, the Communists have taken the position that the prisoner question is something that will have to await a general settlement of the war.

HHH Gets Prof Job

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP)—Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey Sunday accepted a joint professorship position at Macalester College of St. Paul and the University of Minnesota at Minneapolis.

Defeated in a bid for the nation's presidency in November, the vice president said he was happy to be returning to his adopted state where he had first gained stature as a tough, incorruptible mayor of Minneapolis.

Humphrey is an alumnus of Minnesota and a former Macalester professor.

The vice president will receive a $30,000 salary for teaching nine months at the two schools which are only a few minutes of freeway driving apart.
